> Signon Robbio, the renowned violinist has arrived in this colony from Japan. have not been advised of his intentions but trust that we shall have the felicity of hearing him perform ere he leaves the colony.

A case is now on the tapis which illustrates in a forcible manner, the defect of British law as applied to the circumstances under which pertaining, measoring in all 705.75 superficial feet | the mercantile community, of this colony are placed. A godown near Spring Gardens was entered in open daylight, whilst no one was guarding it, and robbed of about fifty bales Cotton, which were conveyed in a regular and systematic manner to a boat, and made off

Before proceeding with our case we would remark, for the information of our readers, that the Chinese are wonderful adepts at this kind of robbery. We ourself were once cognisant of a case which being briefly explained, illustrates very fully the modus operand adopted in robberies of this nature. One of 1,700 the leading Chinese hongs of this port hired a certain godown at West Point, in which a Mutton, and Chicken Pies ; Mines and Fruit do. large quantity of Rice was stored. This go- &c., &c. down was carefully guarded during the night, but during the day it was simply secured by a padlock and stocklock on the outer door, the windows being barred and bolted inside. One, day two rascals, watching their opportunity, opened the door by means of false keys, and hiring some coolies in the regular manner, loaded a boat with Rice, after which they closed the door and locked it in the most systematic way conceivable. Fortunately for the ends of justice, the thieves having no money to pay he coolies, actually referred them for payment to the hong which owned the rice. The coolies, who by the way were in the habit of carrying goods from and into the godown in question, applied to the long accordingly, and were laughed at for their pains

Of course a "bobbery" resulted when the tables [were turned, as far as the laugh was concerned, and a hue and cry raised after the boat which had carried off the stolen rice. The police caught her in-Cowloon Bay-the culprits were tried at the Supreme Court, and were condemned to term of penal servitude. In the case we have quoted, it was manifest from the evidence adduced, that there had been collusion between some one in the employ of the hong, and the thieves, and that the keys of the godown had been lent to the latter to enable them to provide themselves with duplicates-and in all such cuses, their must either be such collusion, or otherwise some Chinese who live near the neglected Godown, liave an opportunity of noting the chance. Therefore, the idea of leaving a godown to take care of itself, simply because it is daylight, can only be viewed as an act of supreme folly. The way to prevent a recurrence of such robberies, is for the legislature to pass an Ordinance declining to take any cognizance of such depradations. We will be bound for it, that another such case would never be licard of.

In the case before us which happened late , it appears that the thieves, or rather the thief, not having duplicate keys, took the opportunity, when he thought no one was looking, to force the locks off. A poor woman saw the act committed. On the robbery being discovered, the affair was placed into the hands of the Police, who during their investigations stumbled on this poor woman. They took her to the residence of the firm to whom the robbed godown belonged, and causing all the domestics and native employes

Busines, with Lathes of all Sizes Planing, trates, the status of either of whom, whether for capacity or integrity, stands high. Why, purposes of the trial at the Supreme Court If the coolie charged be really guilty, he must have accomplices. The property stolen is worth nearly $2,000. Why leave the woman's evidence on the loose, at the mercy of the accomplices of the accused, who we learn have already made attempts to bribe LL persons indebted to the above Estate are her? The system appears to us fuozle-ish and requested to make immediate payment, and absurd. The point to ascertain is, whether the woman is speaking the truth or not, and surely that can be determined much better immediately after the occurrences than by waiting a month or more, during which the accused, if guilty, is certain to offer a bribe as an inducement to make her evidence worthless at the Supreme Court! In the same manner, should an innocent party be unjustly accused, he may be unmured, whilst his enomies are free to arrange the evidence against him.
